A ROUND OF TALK.

Fair Phyllis in the Rural Parts

Fair Phyllis! Ah, she trembles
When down the winding way
The cow boy he assembles
The kine at close of day.
At home she shies the trolley
And hies the crossing, see?
But here she's melancholy
And wants to climb a tree.

Fair Phillis is a-shiver
With horror and affright
When frogs along the river
And treetoads spoil the night.
At home she loves the clamor
Of flat wheels on the rails;
But here the distant hammer
Of woodpecker assails.

Fair Phyllis is astounded
When o'er the meadow lea
The hired man confouneed
Goes barefoot to his knee.
At home she loves to mingle
Her pink toes in the sand;
But up here in the dingle
She does not understand.

Fair Phyllis she expected
The world to kneel to her;
Up here she is neglected
And fails to make a stir.
At home she was the feature—
But home is far away!
The rural maid's the creature
Who seems to hold the day.
—Horace Seymore Keller in the New York Sun.

IN OPERATION —Pure water and home made ice are being furnished the people of the town now. The pure water is something which will certainly be appreciated by the local water consumers after such a seige of using the bad smelling variety. The ice is all right and will be appreciated according to the price. Of course ice is ice and now-a-days the ice as manufactured by the various factories is practically the same as to quality. It is the price that makes it better or worse. If the new factory reduces the price on the article the local consumers will pronounce it good ice and the new factory will be known as a public blessing. If the same old price is maintained—why ice is ice that's all. The factory has a capacity of ten tons per day and the first run was made Saturday. The ice turned out is of good quality and it is estimated that the demand from Springfield and other towns nearby will be sufficient to consume the output later on. The new filter works well and is decidedly the best improvement which has been put in by the Springfield Water and Electric Light Co. It was a big and expensive undertaking but it is thought that the end will justify the means. The water should now be available for all uses and of course will tend to increase the number of patrons so that the investment will doubtless prove a paying one after all, to the company.

GETTING WARM.—The contests among the candidates for the various nominations before the county primary are getting decidedly warm. The past two weeks has developed several new contests rather unexpectedly and it is said that there are still prospects for races growing out of wnat now appear to be walk-overs. The time is short and it consequently behooves the candidate to get a hustle on him self, and this he appears to be doing with a vengeance.

GOOD CROPS. — Tobacco growers in this county this year have reason to feel good over the outlook. The season has been an unusually fine one up to the present time and the plants were never known to look better at this time of the year. The acreage is larger than usual and if the weather continues favorable there should be a record-breaking crop this season.

FAIR. — The advertising matter and the premium list and catalogue of the Washington County Fair are all out and the event is being strongly advertised. More than the usual interest is being taken in the fair this year by farmers and stock raisers and the attendance promises to be large. The premium list is attractive there being quite a number of new rings and good purses added to the regular program.

Night Was Her Terror

"I would cough nearly all night long," writes Mrs. Chas. Applegate, of Alexandria, Ind., "and could hardly get any sleep. I had consumption so bad that if I walked a block I would cough frightfully and spit up blood, but, when all other medicines failed, three $1.00 bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery wholly cured me and I gained 58 pounds." It's absolutely guaranteed to cure Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Bronchitis, and all Throat and Lung troubles. Price 50c and $1. Trial bottles free at C J Haydon's Drugstore.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

COOKING CATARRH CURED

Your Money Back If Hyomei Does Not Cure You.

"Use Hyomei and be cured of catarrh," is what all who have tried it for that disease say to their friends.

It is the easiest thing in the world to stop catarrh at its beginning if you use Hyomei. Just breathe the healthgiving balsamic air for a few minutes and your catarrh will be cured.

In this city and neighboring towns, there are hundreds who can testify to the remarkable powers of Hyomei to cure catarrh. Many of the staunchest friends of this remedy today began its use with little hope that they would be cured, but as Wood & Campbell offered to refund the money, if it did not cure, they decided to try it on the plan and were soon restored to health.

Pine salveacts like a poultice. There is no sore, boil or abrasion of the skin Pinesalve will not cure. Pinesalve draws the fire out of a burn instantly and heals without leaving a scar. Sold by Haydon's Pharmacy.

The Roman's Table.

A dish was prized for its oddity, rarity or costliness. Mighty curious reading are the accounts that come down to us of the great Roman "spreads," such as that which Lentulus gave on his election to the office of flamen or that with which Nasidienus mocked Horace and his friends. The menus on these occasions would strike terror to the heart of a modern "maitre d'hotel" or "chef de cuisine." What would he thought of a dish of echini, or sea hedgehogs, of thrushes served up on asparagus and a fatted hen for course No. 1; of haunches of wild venison, of pickled pig peckers, "Curruca hortensis") for the second; of a son's udder, a wild boar's cheek; a ragout of fish, ducks, hares, boiled teal, capers, turmeric and Picentian bread for the third?—All the Year Round.

Marvelously Condensed.

A lawyer of the good old southern type had argued for three court days without pause. His brief was a masterpiece of classical learning and legal erudition, but it was tiresome.

"Major Sigsbee," said the wearied judge at last, "without wishing to intimate in any way that the court would not be delighted to listen to your whole argument, I must suggest that the docket is somewhat crowded, and that if you could condense a little it might help your client's cause."

The attorney smiled his acknowledgment. "Yo' honoh," he exclaimed, "the point was in my mind when I prepared my argument! Suh, foh the next fo' days my brief is a perfect mahvel of condensation!"

Polar Plants.

Climate affects the inhabitants of the sea just as it does those of the land. As arctic land plants cannot flourish at the equator, so in the Arctic and Antarctic oceans marine plants are found which are unable to survive in warm water. Among the most remarkable of these cold water plants are the laminariaceæ, a kind of seaweeds which sometimes attain a gigantic size, exceeding in length the longest climbing plants of the tropical forests and developing huge stems like the trunks of trees. Investigations have shown that these plants flourish in the coldest waters of the polar seas and, that they never advance further from their frigid homes than to the limits of "summer temperature" in the ocean. The genial warmth destroys them, just as a polar bear shrivels the flowers of a tropical garden.

A Surprise In Store.

Beggum (to himself)—I've got round that rich old great-aunt of mine at last. She's invited me to Beresford Schloones, and I'm helping her night and day to search out worthy objects. Today she said I'd have cause for rejoicing when her will was read. His (quiet) Aunt (to herself)—I had no idea my grandnephew was so good. It worries him terribly to see so much misery in the world. How delighted he will be to find that all my money is to go to the support of the poor friendless orphans.

Nothing is farther, from the earth than heaven; nothing is nearer to heaven than earth.—Hare.

The oxygenized strength of the healing pines, combined with other well known kidney and bladder remedies, is dresented in Pinesalve. This new discovery gives immediate relief and permanently cures all kidney and bladder troubles, Sold by Haydon's Pharmacy.

Doctors Said He Would Not Live

Peter Fry, Woodruff, Pa., writes: "After doctoring for two years with the best physicians in Wheyesburg, and still getting worse, the doctors advised me if I had any business to attend to I had better attend to it at once, as I could not possibly live another month as there was no cure for me. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended to me by a friend, and I immediately sent my son to the store for it and after taking three bottles I began to get better and continued to improve until I was entirely well." Sold by Wood & Campbell.

No Pity Shown

"For years fate was after me continually" writes P A Gullego Verbena, Ala, "I had a terrible case of Piles, causing 24 tumors When all failed Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me." Equally good for Burns and all aches and pains Only 25c at C J Haydon's Drugstore.

Young Matron (with theories on the care of children, to nurse)—Jane, Nurse Tee-sum. Young Matron—When the baby has finished his bottle, lay him in the cradle on his right side. After eating a child should always lie on the right side; that relieves the pressure on the heart. Still (sweetly) the liver is on the right side; perhaps, after all, you had better lay him on the left side. No, I am sure the treatise on infant digestion said right—left. On the whole, Jane, you may lay the baby on his back until I have looked up the matter more thoroughly."

The Only Obligation.

A story that comes from a country region not far from New York concerns a native who was seen steadily plowing a field with a team of weary and dejected horses. As they approached the observer of rural life remarked sympathetically that the horses "didn't seem to like the work."

"Um," commented the farmer briefly, "they don't have to like it. They only have to do it."—Harper's Weekly.

Pair of Plaintiffs.

"See here," exclaimed the angry man. "I wish you would muzzle that dog of yours at night. His barking keeps my baby awake."

"I was just going to request you to muzzle your baby," rejoined the neighbor. "His nightly howling annoys my dog."—St. Louis Republic.

No Common Hired Hand.

Agent of Apartment House—When can you go to work? Dignified Person who has accepted position as janitor of building—I can enter upon the duties of my office at once, sir.—Chicago Tribune.

A Recommendation.

Mrs. Darley—Why do you have Mrs. Gabb to sew for you? She is not a good dressmaker. Mrs. Carley—I know that, but she knows all the gossip in the community.—London Tit-Bits.

Wooden Food.

A traveler in Siberia a few years back noted that among the natives along the northern coast wood, in a certain form, is a most common and constant article of diet. The natives eat it because they like it. Even when fish are plentiful it usually forms part of the evening meal, as many cleanly stripped birch logs bear every bet testify. These people know by experience that the fact of their eating wood arouses the sympathy of strangers and shrewdly use it to excite pity and to obtain gifts of tea and tobacco. They scrape off thick layers immediately under the bark of the log and, chopping it fine, mix it with meal. It is then boiled in a kettle. Sometimes a little fish roe, milk or butter is mixed with it.

Opposition to Judge Parker as the Democratic nomicee for President seems to have weakened and it now looks as if the convention at St. Louis will nominate the New York jurist on the first ballot. The delegates from Kentucky have elected Urey Woodson to succeed himself as Democratic National Committeeman. The Kentucky delegation chose Ollie James to be chairman of the delegation, Gov. Beckham for the Committee on Resolutions Senator Blackburn for the Committeen on Credentials, and Senator McCreary for the Committee on Organization. The delegates decided to vote as a unit for Parker for President and Beckham for Vice President.

News From The County.

Happenings Among the County People as Reported by our Correspondents.

Valley Hill

Harvesting is over in and around this section. The reports are that the small wheat crops are proving excellent, while the rye is somewhat short.

Miss Rose Cleaver of Lebanon visited Miss Maranda Tucker last week.

Miss Sarah Tucker of Louisville is the charming visitor of Miss Mable Tucker at this place.

Mrs. S. M. Dorsey and son Robert are pleasant guests at the home of Mrs. Palmer Goatley this week.

Howard Goatley of Louisville came up to spend the "Fourth" with his parents. Howard was warmly welcomed by his many friends.

Miss Matilda Brown, who hails from Georgia, is the pleasant guest of Miss Lida Grundy this week.

Mr. Ham Piles and wife visited friends and relatives near Wakefield Station Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Ella Elliott has returned to her home in Louisville after a pleasant visit to relatives at this place.

Mr. John Virgin and wife of near Maud, and Thomas Reed and wife spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. S. E. Piles.

Johnnie Kelly and Clifton Leachman two of the Grove's promising young citizens were in our midst Saturday night. These young gents have at last found an enticing attraction outside the flourishing limits of the Grove neighborhood.

Several of Springfield's young citizens passed through our village Sunday. They seemed to be hunting pure water, which can be readily found at either the well known Sulphur spring or at the newly discovered Magnesia spring, better known as Clarkson spring.

Fred VanArsdale, one of Litsey's most popular young gents, was in our midst Sunday.

Robert Gray of near Polin was in our midst Sunday. Robert seems to be doing his best toward securing one of our fair damsels to make her Queen of one of the Polin neighborhood's handsomest mansions.

We had quite a scrap in our village one day recently. But we will second the Mooresville correspondent and call no names and therefore insult no one.

Politics are getting warm in this section, and Mr. Thomas Hamilton seems to have been the starter. But the next time Tom visits our neighborhood we hope he will not be so congenial as to attract the attention of another swarm of bees, as he did the last call. He left looking somewhat fleshier than when he entered but the voters need not lay his bloated condition to anything but W. P. Montgomery's bees.

Misses Mattie Tucker and Pearl Goatley left Monday for French Lick Springs, Ind., for the benefit of their health.

Edward Goatley and wife visited the latter's parents near Maud a few days last week.

T. A. Tatum has given up his position at the store house of this place on account of difference of opinion upon some subjects.

Misses Emma and Nannie Baker of near Hillsboro were at the home of Mrs. J. L. Moran the Fourth.

On last Tuesday evening Mrs. Montgomery Reed was frightened by the appearance of a negro man on the premises. She soon evacuated the house but met Mr. Reed coming home. They then went and searched the house but the search proved fruitless. Whoever this loafer may be he had better keep the road or he may get into a hornet's nest.

Week by week our anxiety grows for Thursday to come so we may get the NEWS-LEADER and read the many spicy letters which it contains. The correspondents seem to be trying their best to increase the correspondence page. Welcome are the Booker and Litsey correspondents as we delight in reading the news from those places. We extend our sympathy to the Litsey people and really think the Grove correspondent is imprudent by slandering them. We know that they have had two doctors to grow rich and marry, and is likely they will soon have another.

The Fourth was a pleasant day until late in the afternoon when the fun and frolic of the picnic crowds were dispersed on account shower. This was of course very much against the will of many a fantastic boy and girl; but nevertheless we cannot have things to suit us always.

North Bend

It has been said that "a stitch in time saves nine." This has been proven true in Mr. Wm. Scott's place. Mr. Scott is the owner of two shepherd pups which he thought were sure to make their mark, and the following narration shows they did. After killing 18 young turkeys for Mrs. Scott, Mr. Ezra Goff offered to kill the pups if Mr. Scott would pay for the cartridges used to dispatch the dogs, which would not have cost more than three cents. Scott thinking the price too high refused to give it. On leaving home Friday afternoon he found when he returned that the cabines had killed one hog and a calf, both worth about $15, Mr. Scott says from how on he will not stand on little things.

The contest for the Congressional nomination in the Eighth District resulted in a deadlock. The convention is being held at Shepherdsville. After balloting 145 times the respective candidates received the same number of votes as follows: Gilbert, 35; Helm, 29, and Moore 24; 45 being necessary to a choice.

Mr. Green Hays, who is a prominent stock trader in Spencer county, says that he was once a candidate for Assessor of Spencer county, and after making a thorough canvass of the county, which was composed of about 300 democrats, most of these men promised to vote for him, and those who did not commit themselves openly did so by implication. Time went on, rings and cliques were formed, and when the drag net was landed Mr. Hayes was not "in it." On being asked the cause of defeat Mr. Hays philosophically remarked that there were "about 300 of the damnedest liars in Spencer county this side of Hades." Observation beware lest some of our Washington county Democrats are not of the above opinion just after the Democratic primary has come and gone.

Hillsboro

The farmers have about finished up harvesting and the rye and wheat crop will make a good turnout for the beads are well filled. The oat crop here is good; corn and tobacco are looking well; the farmers are most up with their work.

We have not seen any of the candidates for Assessor in our midst yet, but it seems that Virgin is the choice of most of our voters.

Dud Sutherland and Mitt Leachman have returned from a visit to friends at Wayside. Just somehow the boys are wearing a smile that won't come off.

Mrs. W. Ezra Sutherland and Miss Hattie Settles attended the reunion of the old Confederates and Federal soldiers at the Sulphur Spring near Van Buren, Anderson county, July 4th. Dinner was served on the ground in an abundance and a brass band furnished music. Capt. Crabb and Judge Speed, of Taylorsville; Dr. Snider, of Mt. Eden and Hon. W. P. Marsh, of Lawrence, were the orators of the day.

Quite a large crowd from here went to Fenwick Sunday evening to hear the Hillsboro choir sing. They report a good Sunday school at Fenwick as well as some fine singing.

Mrs. Terrell of Tatham who was taken sick Friday, while on a visit to her father Mr. Tyler Brothers, is still a very sick woman with little hopes of her recovery.

Thos. McIlvoy and wife have returned from a visit of several days to relatives at Tatham.

Again we request the public not to forget the appointment of Elder Perry R. Campbell's meeting to begin here on Wednesday night after the third Sunday. This community is very much in need of a spiritual revival and we hope all will give Bro. Campbell a hearty co-operation and help to make his meeting a success.

Esq. Prather and wife of Pulliam were here Saturday and Sunday to visit their sons J. T., and P. B. Prather.

John Armstrong is building a large as well as a nice tobacco barn, which he will use for a re-handling house. He realized a clear profit of $1,200 on what he bought last year. Mr. Armstrong is a hustling tobacco man and when his new barn is finished he will be in the business for what there is in it.

There has been several cases of measles in this vicinity during the past two weeks, but all are of a very mild nature and not so much dreaded as they were in the early spring.

There will be a match game of base ball here Saturday afternoon between the Brookville team and the "Pennyriles". Capt. Settles requests us to say that a large crowd will be on hand.

Politics are all the talk now especially in the race for School Superintendent. Two weeks ago it looked in favor of Mr. Bush, but since our voters met Miss Shaunty in town County Court day the tide has changed some what and we hear strong talk in her favor.

The Sunday School Committee for this county composed of W. P. Cheatham, C. B. Pope, Wilbur Peters, Judge W. E. Selec man and J. W. Perkins are requested to meet with W. D. Claybrook's law office next County Court day at 2 o'clock and arrange a program for the County Convention which will be held at Pleasant Grove Aug. 19.

LILAC

Jensonton

Miss Lillie Bottom of Mackville, was visiting Miss Mattie Kimberlin of this place last week.

Mr. Jack Riglon of Mitchellsburg called on his best girl here last Sunday. We think he is a candidate for matrimony.

We are having some good showers of rain in this section.

A great many of our boys attended a moonlight party at Perryville last Saturday and of course they had a good old time.

Mrs. Lizzie Campbell has begun to close out her stock of general merchandise at cost at this place.

Mrs. J. P. Crain of Boyle county, was visiting A. H. Crain last week.

Sam Campbell was in town last week on business.

Wm. Lay commenced carrying mail on star route the 1st.

Rev. Hatchett filled his regular appointment at Beech Grove Sunday.

We have plenty candidates in this county who are very busy calling on their friends and want their assistance in the coming primary.

Miss Mattie Begley has begun her school at this place. We trust she will give the desired satisfaction.

Will close by saying that the NEWS-LEADER recieves a hearty welcome from many at this place

Hardesty Schoolhouse

The growing corn and tobacco are looking fine. Farmers are through wheat harvesting and cutting clover.

Mrs. Lucy Houston and children of Chaplin spent Sunday with her grandparents Rev. and Mrs. Sale.

Mr. S. G. Hardesty and wife of Lebanon were guests of friends here Sunday.

Miss Ella Shaunty the popular candidate for School Superintendent was in our midst last week.

Mrs. Eliza Carney and children spent last Friday with her mother Mrs. Sarah Gray.

Several from here attended church at New Hope Sunday.

Mr. Erastus Goodlett of Mercer county returned home Sunday accompanied by his cousin Miss Lela Goodlett.

Mr. and Mrs. Burt Hawkins of Woodlawn spent a part of last week with relatives at this place.

Miss Nellie Grey is spending the week with her uncle J. R. Gray.

Pleasant Grove

Poor Town was not dead, but only sleeping. Pardon me if I have slandered this moss covered little city, which for the past half century has been as silent and still as the waters of the "Dead Sea." Not even the chirp of a crickett or the croake of a frog has ever molested its slumbers. The Beech, upon its windiog way, has most forgotten that this little village of "fair fame" was located upon its banks. Yes, we will admit that two of your M. D's married rich, but how about their better halves being two of the Grove's fair daughters?

The ice cream supper given at Judge B. L. Litsey's for the benefit of the Presbyterian church here was quite a success. They realized $53.

Mr. James Murphy of Lebanon is the pleasant guest of Miss Catherine Ballard this week.

Miss Edith Curtis of Louisville is the charming guest of Miss Elizabeth Mae Gregory.

Messrs. Merritt Dohoney and Frank Peters of Lebanon were here to attend the ice cream supper Friday evening.

Mr. Nat Thompson and cousin Miss Mary Agnes Thompson are visiting relatives in Harrodsburg this week.

Miss Ella Shaunty, the Democrats' most popular candidate for School Superintendent, has been in the Grove for the past few days.

Miss Ressie Roberts of Springfield will teach the Grove school.

Mr. J. C. Taylor who has recently been appointed to a good position in the Louisville Post Office is at home for a few days.

Hon. M. G. Leachman has been on the sick list for the past few days.

Mr. L. M. Cummins of Louisville is visiting relatives here.

Mrs. Mary Colvin and sister Miss Cora Trent of Springfield spent the day with T. J. Trent and family Friday.

Capt. Wm. Sweeney Jr., of Lebanon is visiting his aunt Mrs. Alice Thompson.

After an absence of some two years, George Foley Wycoff has again put in his appearance here

Scruggsville

The welcome rains seem to have brought good cheer to the hearts of the farmers, and it is with renewed energy that they seem to push their work.

Mesdames Eliza Reddick and Fanny Colvin visited relatives near Chaplin last week.

Mr. W. R. Scott and family visited Mr. Jas. Coulter and family at Hillsboro Sunday.

Miss Ora Carney of Mooresville was the pleasant guest of Miss Sallie Hendrea Sunday.

After a lingering illness of six long and weary months, death came on last Thursday night as a sweet release to the suffering body of our friend and neighbor Mrs. Phoebe Hilton. She was a kind and loving mother a faithful and affectionate sister, and a staunch friend to all who knew her. Her remains were carried to Antioch cemetery for burial

H. T. Scruggs and wife visited the families of I. M. Lynch, of your city, and A. M. Lynch, of Simms last week.

R. S. Hardin is having some additional work done on his house, M. V. Crouch has the contract.

The Fall term of school at this place will be taught by Miss Clara Shepherd of Shepherdsville. She is an excellent teacher, as has been proven by her two years' work at this place.

R. B. Scruggs attended the hop at Tatham Springs Friday night.

Dr. Tatham was a guest at the home of Clark Bros. last week.

Married in Kansas

An account of the marriage of a Washington county boy Arthur H. Goatley son of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Goatley of this place, to a young lady of Clyde, Kansas, has been received here. The Clyde Herald says of the wedding:

"A very pretty home wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Wheat, on Wednesday evening, June 8, 1904, when their daughter Clara, was united in marriage to Mr. Arthur H. Goatley.

The presents were many and handsome, including gifts or value from the groom's family in Kentucky, none of whom were able to be present.

The bride, a fair young lady, has grown up amongst us and has a host of friends, both old and young, who will miss her and who wish for her, Heaven's choicest blessings.

The groom has lived in Clyde and vicinity, for about three years, is favorably known as an energetic young business man, and has made many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Goatley will make their home in Wayne, where they will be at home, to their friends, after July first.

Judge Patteson Dead

The many friends of Judge Charles Patteson at this place were greatly shocked on last Wednesday morning when the news came of his death at his home in Campbellsville. Judge Patteson was known to be in feeble health but his condition was not thought to be dangerous. He was holding court at Greensburg last week but went home on Friday a very sick man and grew worse rapidly until the end.

Judge Patteson was Circuit Judge in the Eleventh Judicial district, composed of the counties of Marion, Green, Taylor and Washington. Judge Patteson was born in Green county, Ky., July 26, 1852; moved with his father to Taylor county in 1861; graduated from Hanover College in 1871; was elected County Attorney of Taylor county in 1882; was six years Master Commissioner; was elected to the State Senate in 1899; resigned to become a candidate for Circuit Judge, to which office he was elected in 1892.

Cecil Gibbs a popular young man of the Willisburg neighborhood and a son of Mr. W. S. Gibbs the well-known farmer and stock trader of that place, died on last Sunday night at an infirmary in Louisville where he was being treated for an abscess of the ear. An operation had been performed and it was thought for a time that the young man was getting better but some complications set in and death resulted. The deceased was about 20 years of age and a most excellent young gentlemen well liked by all who knew him. The remains were brought here Monday and the funeral took place at Willisburg on Tuesday morning. Poets' Opinions of Each Other.

A good story about Browning and Tennyson is to be found in the diary of the Right Hon. Sir Mountstuart Grant Duff. Browning referred readily to the charge of obscurity in his poetry. "He once told me," says Sir Mountstuart Grant Duff, "after repeating a story Wordsworth had told him illustrating his own strange want of humor and wit, that Wordsworth, after all, was unjust to himself, for that on hearing of Browning's engagement to Miss Barrett he had said, 'Well, I suppose they understand each other, although nobody understands them!'"

Tennyson's opinion of Browning (and, incidentally, of himself) is shown in his remark that "Browning is devoted to music and knows a great deal about it, but there is no music in his verse. I know nothing about music and don't care for it in the least, but my verse is full of music."

In reading Milton's Lycidas aloud, says Sir Mountstuart Grant Duff, Tennyson would stop at the line,

And, oh, ye dolphins, waft the hapless youth, with the comment that this was "the only bad line Milton ever wrote."—Harper's Weekly.

The Island of Jersey.

The police court of St. Helier, the principal town of the island of Jersey, is remarkable in several respects. First, the proceedings are always opened with prayer; second, it frequently happens that after prayer there is no more business, and every one goes home. There is so little crime committed in the island that the police force (twenty strong) is kept up only for visitors. The beautiful carving in oak which forms the rostrum of this court is the work of a lady named Coxedge, a resident of the island. The dock is remarkable for its spaciousness and comfort. The authorities are very lenient with their prisoners, who are kept here, for court and station are under one roof. In the words of the genial old turnkey, "When we gets 'em brought in drunk during the day, if they behave well we lets 'em out at night." Every "bobby" is obliged to know the Psalms. It's all he has to do.

Billiard Balls.

Billiard balls are made of Zanzibar ivory, the other ivory, known as the Bombay ivory, being too liable to crack or chip. The Zanzibar ivory is soft and therefore lasts better. The regulation ball is two and three-eighths inches in diameter, and a set of four costs about $30. They are rough turned—that is, turned a little larger than the balls are to be when finished—and are stored away in open crates for from sixteen to twenty-two months to season the ivory after being turned and to allow any shrinkage to take place before the balls are finished. If the balls were not seasoned in this way they would be liable to shrink after they were finished, and, as they only shrink in the direction of the grain, they would become oval instead of remaining round, as they should be, and it would be necessary to have them turned again.

Many John Smiths.

In Latin, John Smith is Johanus Smithius; in Italian, Giovanni Smithi or Fabbroni; in Spanish, Juan Smithas; in Dutch, Hans Schmiths or Schmidt or Schmitzes; in French, Jean Smeets; in Greek, Ion Skmiton; in Polish, Ivan Schmittiweiski; in Welsh, Ilhon Schmidd; in Scotch, Jean Gowans; in Russian, Jonloff Skmittowski; in Chinese, Jahon Shimmit; in Icelandic, Jahne Smithson; in Mexican, Joutli F'Smith; in Tuscarora, Ton Qu Smittia.

Heroic War Measures.

Chaka, a great African native chief, trained a powerful army which was famous in war. If a regiment was beaten it was slaughtered on its return to the king's palace. If any man lost his weapon in war he was killed for cowardice. If the chief wanted to see what kind of weapons were most successful he would order a sham fight with them, in which real lives would be lost.

Editor Versus Lawyer.

A lawyer in a courtroom may call a man a liar, scoundrel, villain or thief, and no one makes a complaint when court has adjourned. If a newspaper prints such reflections on a man's character there is a libel suit or a dead editor. And this is owing to the fact that people believe what an editor says; what a lawyer says cuts no figure.—Routt County (Colo.) Courier.

Trying to Forget It.

Mifkins—Hello, old man! What do you think of that cigar I gave you last night? Bifkins—Don't ask me to think. I'm trying to forget it.

Let those who complain of having to work undertake to do nothing. If this does not convert them, nothing will.

He who commits an injustice is ever made more wretched than he who suffers it.—Plato.

Not Fatal.

No Matter What Doctors Say—We Know That Heart Trouble in Many Cases Can Be Cured.

There are seven main features of heart disease, viz.: (1) Weakness or Debility; (2) Rheumatism or Neuralgia; (3) Valvular Disorder; (4) Dilation; (5) Enlargement; (6) Fatty Degeneration; (7) Dropsy.

Documentary evidence will prove thousands of so-called "incurables" have been absolutely cured by Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure.

Patients often have no idea their disease is heart trouble, but ascribe it to Indigestion, Liver Complaint, etc.

Here are some of the symptoms: Shortness of breath after exercise. Smothering Spells. Pain in Chest, left Shoulder and arm. Discomfort in Lying on one side. Fainting Spells. Nervous Cough. Swelling of Feet and Ankles. Paleness of Face and Lips. Palpitation. Nightmare. Irregular Pulse.

"I have great faith in Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and speak of its merits whenever opportunity presents. I can now go up and down stairs with ease, where three weeks ago I could hardly walk one block." One year later,—"I am still in good health; the Heart Cure did so much for me, that I find it a far greater medicine than you claimed it to be."—S. D. YOUNG, D. Hair Raising.

Just when the mutilation of the dead by tearing the skin from the head began will never be known, for the origin is lost in the midst of ages, the record extending back beyond even the mythical period of man's existence. In the book of Maccabees it is recorded that at the termination of one of the battles of which that bloody history is so full the victorious soldiers tore the skin from the heads of their vanquished foes. This would be evidence that the custom of scalp taking was one of the indulgences even of those people of whom we have record in the Bible.

Be it as it may, it is an established fact that the custom is a universal one, so far as savage man is concerned. Whether ethnologists can build a theory of a common origin of man from this or not, or whether this can be taken as an evidence that the Indians are the descendants of the lost Israelite tribes because of their habit of securing mementos of hair from their fallen enemies, is something time alone will develop. Be that as it may, it is a fact that all Indian tribes, to a certain extent, scalp their enemies who have fallen in battle.—London Globe.

Curious Fact In Natural History.

An incident which will be interesting to naturalists is told in a recent number of the Scotsman. One of the foresters in the employ of the Marquis of Lothian was returning from his work when he noticed a wild duck flying from a larch tree. On close examination he observed a common brown owl looking down from what appeared to be a nest in the cleft of the tree about thirty feet from the ground and apparently near the place from which the duck had flown. Curiosity prompted him to climb to the place, which he did with great difficulty. The owl on his approach flew off, and to his surprise he found in the nest two eggs—an owl's and a wild duck's. It is not uncommon for both owls and ducks to build their nests high up on trees, but it is unheard of for one nest to be appropriated by both birds.

A Clever Minister.

"To the town of Norridgewock, in Maine," said a clergyman, "a strange minister once came to preach. He preached duly, and after the sermon was over he mingled with the congregation, expecting that some one would invite him to dinner. One by one, however, the congregation departed, offering the hungry minister no hospitality, and he began to feel anxious. Where was he to eat? As the last deacon was leaving the church the minister rushed up to him and shook him warmly by the hand.

"'I want you to come home and dine with me,' the minister said.

"'Why, where do you live?' said the deacon.

"'About thirty miles from here.'

"The deacon reddened. 'Oh, you come and dine with me instead,' he said."

A Gypsy Prophecy.

An English magazine relates a curious instance of gypsy prophecy. The third Earl of Malmesbury, as Lord Fitzharris, was riding to a yeomanry review near Christchurch, when his orderly, some distance in front, ordered a gypsy woman to open a gate. The gypsy woman quietly waited till Lord Fitzharris and his staff rode up, when she addressed them, saying, "Oh, you think you are a lot of fine fellows now, but I can tell you that one day your bones will whiten in that field." Lord Fitzharris laughed and asked her whether she thought they were going to have a battle, adding it was not very likely in that case they would choose such a spot. More than forty years later the field was turned into a cemetery.

A Country of Linguists.

Almost every native of Iceland, even the peasants and fishermen, can speak at least one foreign language besides his local Danish dialect. Some years ago it became a fad to study languages, and now a person speaking only one tongue is looked down upon as extremely ignorant. English leads; then come German and French. Papers in these three languages are read extensively in Iceland and may be found in all the village reading rooms.

The Head and Feet.

The connection between the head and feet is well known. A hot head is ordinarily relieved by a hot footbath. So cold feet tend to congest the brain and other internal organs. Sometimes cold feet are caused by tight lacing or tight fitting shoes. But it is as much a suicidal act to hasten death by compressing the lungs or the feet as by compressing the neck with a rope.

A Serious Decision.

Beatrix (aged six, after remaining in deep thought for quite two minutes, addressing her mother, who has been choosing frocks for her)—Mummy, dear, before you buy the frocks, I've thought it all over, and I think I'd rather be a boy.—London Tit-Bits.

Confined to His Room.

Benefactor—How is your husband now, my dear woman? Poor Woman—I am sorry to say, sir, he is confined to his room. Benefactor—Could I see him? Poor Woman—Possibly, sir, if you applied at the county jail.

Nothing but Praise.

"Mr. Richley had nothing but praise for your work for him before the citizens' committee," said the friend.

"Yes," replied the lobbyist gloomily, "nothing but praise."—Philadelphia Press.

Perfection.

Husband—H'm—er—what's the matter with this cake? Wife—There can't be anything the matter. The cookery book says it is the most delicious cake that can be made.

The Place For a Pupil.

"And there is one thing about the pupil of the eye that I can't say about lots of other pupils," remarked the teacher.

"What is that?" asked the scholars in chorus.

"It is always found up around the head."—Yonkers Statesman.

Making Sure.

Mr. Totterly—Could you marry a very old man with a good deal of money if he told you frankly how old he was and how much he was worth? Miss Timely—How much is he worth?

Then He Went.

Unwelcome Suitor—That's a lovely song. It always carries me away. She—If I had known how much pleasure it could give us both I would have sung it earlier in the evening.

The Usual Formula.

It makes no difference how small a boy is, when his mother scolds him she always says, "You ought to be ashamed of yourself, a big boy like you!"

INDIGESTION

"I was troubled with stomach trouble. Thedford's Black-Draught did me more good in one week than all the doctor's medicine I took in a year."—MRS. SARAH E. SHIRFIELD, Ellettsville, Ind.

Thedford's Black Draught quickly invigorates the action of the stomach and cures even chronic cases of indigestion. If you will take a small dose of Thedford's Black Draught occasionally you will keep your stomach and liver in perfect condition.

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

More sickness is caused by constipation than by any other disease. Thedford's Black-Draught not only relieves constipation but cures diarrhoea and dysentery and keeps the bowels regular.

All druggists sell 25-cent packages.

"Thedford's Black-Draught is the best medicine to regulate the bowels I have ever used."—MRS. A. M. GRANT, Sneads Ferry, N. C.

CONSTIPATION

THE YOLKS OF EGGS.

Those of a Reddish Hue Better Than the Pale Yellow.

There is most probably an important dietetic difference between two eggs the yolk of one of which is a very pale yellow color and that of the other a rich, almost reddish color. It is a notorious fact that the country produced egg may usually be placed under the latter description, while the egg produced by the hen that is under an unhealthy and limited environment shows an anaemic color, generally a very pale yellow. The eggs of wild birds—as, for example, the plover—show a yolk of a rich reddish color.

The substance which contributes color to the yolk of the egg is iron, just as it is iron which gives color to the blood, and there seems to be little doubt that the iron compound in the yolk of the egg is of a similar nature to that of the blood. It is easily assimilated, and eggs are regarded as a suitable food for the anaemic person, as they present a concentrated and generally easily digested form of nutriment rich in iron. The iron compound of the egg has, in fact, been termed a "haematogen," because it is probable that from it the blood of the chick is derived. The amount of iron in the yolk of an egg would appear to increase with the intensity of its color, and there can be little doubt that the maximum is reached in the richly colored yolk of the egg produced by a fowl existing in healthy surroundings, for then its processes of nutrition would be working under very favorable conditions. As an article of diet, therefore, the egg should be judged not by the color of its shell, but of the yolk, which should be of a rich reddish rather than of a pale yellow color.—Lancet.

THE ENGLISH TAILOR.

He Used to Be Humble, but Now He Is a Haughty Vampire.

Of late, be it noted, the tailor has become quite an unreasonable and gratuitous drain on all men's purses.

Formerly you were his patron. He was very civil and gave you unintermittent opportunities for seeing the top of his head and the back of his neck. He rubbed his hands and crawled before you for 5 guineas a suit. If you paid any time before the death of the senior partner in his business he bowed you to your equipage and said in his heart that you were a great gentleman.

Today he is a vampire, he sucks your blood, he walks erect, he chooses cloth for you, you must have what he tells you to have, his terms are cash on delivery, his credit will last you six months, and as often as not he is a member of your friend's club.

He is the person who makes you or mars you. With his bit of soapstone he can turn you out just so or not just so. Be civil to him, I adjure you. You are only a poor, soppy, brainless, driveling rascal of a man. If you be not well d[illegible] you will become a wreck, a hul[illegible] relict, a castaway on the misty s[illegible]es of business and society.—London Gentlewoman.

The Telltale.

That was an embarrassing position in which a fashionable New York woman found herself recently. She was invited to a wedding, but did not think either of her hats was good enough for the occasion. So she visited her milliner's and had an exceedingly costly affair sent home on trial. She wore it at the wedding and the next day drove to the milliner's and returned it, saying it did not suit. It happened that the hatmaker, who quite understood the situation, had been similarly tried several times of late. "Did you not wear this hat at the Blank wedding yesterday?" she asked bluntly. Taken by surprise, the society woman owned up, but asked, "How did you know?" "Oh, it was quite easy. I see several grains of rice in the folds of the lace."

A Gruesome Kaffir Custom.

A writer on the Kaffirs of South Africa says: "A Pondo chief in very olden days on accession to the throne would kill one of his brothers and wash in his blood to strengthen himself and then would keep his medicines in the skull of the dead brother, a practice which raised the power of the medicine to the 'nth,' as mathematicians would say. If a warrior of conspicuous bravery is killed in war his body is made into medicine and administered to the young men to make them brave, a practice which may well have been the basis of cannibalism."

The Dog Whipper.

An old church official in England was the dog whipper, who was employed in driving or removing dogs from the various churches and who is often alluded to in vestry accounts, as, for example, "paid the dog whipper 10 shillings;" "to Widdow Sandys the year's sallery for (dog) whipping 5 shillings." Implements known as dog tongs were also used by these dog whippers, many of them being spiked at the end and capable of giving a cruel grip. They are still preserved in some of the old churches.

The Englishwoman's Latchkey.

Talking about the British aristocracy, a woman who has met it on its native heath tells me that the feminine section of it never stirs out without a latchkey. We carry latchkeys over here, but we don't do it in the British way. The American woman ties her key in the corner of her handkerchief or hides it under the mat or puts it into her purse along with cold cream recipes and car tickets and samples. The Englishwoman parades hers. The woman who knows her tells me that she has seen latchkeys set with precious stones and fastened to long chains. She has seen them gilded and strung from belts; she has seen them with pins on the back of them, worn as brooches. She tells me that the Englishwoman would no sooner leave her latchkey at home than her husband would his bath. The thing is possibly new to the Englishwoman and, being new, is paraded. With us over here it is an old story. Possessing the reality, the symbol is of small moment to us. We are content to leave the latchkey under the mat.—Washington Post.

A Philosopher as a Fisherman.

Herbert Spencer once won a curious wager. He was staying for a fishing holiday in the house of Sir Francis Powell, the president of the Scottish academy, and while angling for trout he happened to drop his eyeglasses into a deep pool of the river. In the evening he related his misadventure to his host and the guests, and said that he was prepared to bet that he would recover the pince-nez from the bottom of the pool. His friends declared that this was an impossible feat, but Herbert Spencer still offered to make the bet. His challenge was accepted by one of the visitors. Upon the following evening Spencer returned to the house with the missing eyeglasses. He had fastened a strong magnet on the end of his fishing line and fished for the glasses until it came into contact with their steel rims.

Floating Targets of the Sea.

Even the French and British warships that patrol the Newfoundland coast during the fishery season do not escape the danger of icebergs, crowded with men and carefully navigated though the vessels are. The ice masses serve a novel purpose for the fleets all the summer through, being used as targets for big gun practice. When a specially formidable one drifts along past St. John's a cruiser slips her moorings and runs to sea after it, pelting it with projectiles until she fires away her allowance. It is one of the sights of St. John's, the endless procession of icebergs of every size and shape that drift by day after day, charming the eye and cooling the summer atmosphere. Sometimes they ground in the harbor mouth and prevent ships entering or leaving.—P. T. McGrath in McClure's.

Palestine.

When one thinks of the great events that have taken place in the Holy Land, the multitude of cities, villages and towns, the countless millions who have been born there and whose bones now lie in its rock ribbed hills, the small dimensions of Palestine are almost startling. West of the Jordan, where most of the historic events took place, there are only 3,800 square miles, including all the geographical divisions now called Palestine. Including the land both east and west of the Jordan, the total area is 9,840 square miles. The length of Palestine from north to south is about 150 miles. It varies in breadth from twenty-three to eighty miles.

Wanted None of His Art.

At a dinner in London, Theodore Watts-Dunton said: "It isn't generally known that Turner, the painter, and Dr. Augustus Pritchard once lived together for a year in Cheyne row. The painter and the physician had a fine garden, and they took a good deal of pride in their flowers. But the garden gate did not work well, and one day Turner, because it wouldn't open, pettishly gave orders that it be nailed up. It was thought that this odd act would enrage Augustus Pritchard, but, on being told of it, all he said was, 'Oh, well, I don't care what Turner does to the gate, so long as he doesn't paint it.'"

Colds.

Every one knows when he contracts a cold on the chest. Not so with cold in the kidneys and bowels. The kidneys, however, are the weak point in many men and women nowadays, and they may be well protected by wearing a roll of white flannel, which should be about a foot wide and go twice around the waist for winter and once for summer. Try it, reader, if you have any tendency to bladder or kidney trouble.—Exchange.

A Mean Bank.

"Madam, you've already overdrawn your account."

"What's that?"

"You haven't any more money in the bank."

"The idea! A fine bank, I think, to be out of money because of the little I've drawn! Well, I'll go somewhere else."

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

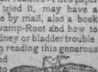

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty cent and dollar sizes are sold by all good druggists.

BILLIARD CUES.

The Variety That May Be Found In Styles, Wood and Prices.

Billiard cues vary greatly in weight and price, according to the woods used in their making. The tops of all good cues are made of maple wood. The maple is seasoned in the open air for from six to twelve months and kiln dried to prevent warping after the cues are finished. The butts are made of ebony, sapote, mahogany, rosewood, cocoabolo, tulip, amarant and snakewood, the different woods being used to secure the proper weight. Ebony is the heaviest wood. The cost of these various woods, except the snakewood and ebony, is the same. Ebony and snakewood bring a slightly increased price. The best cues are those of natural balance—that is, that are weighted by the clear wood and are not loaded or bored, although some players prefer the loaded or bored cues and have them constructed to suit their taste.

There is a large choice in cue tips—flat tips, round tips, narrow tips and broad tips—but there is no real difference between them, it being all a matter of what each player fancies. The only tip which has any advantage over the others is the removable tip, which can be unscrewed from the cue and replaced when out of order without any delay or annoyance. The leather used in cue tips is calfskin taken from the head just back of the ears, where the leather is both thick and soft. No other leather would do, as it is either too thin or too hard. The French calfskin is considered slightly better than the American, but there is not much choice between them.

The regular cues cost from 50 cents to $10, the difference in price being due to the inlaid fancy woods, pearl or ivory name plates, ivory joints and tips, cord wound about the grip, ornamented butts and other similar additions. The jointed cues are made mostly for travel, and the best cues are not jointed unless so ordered, as the jointed cues are not so strong as the single piece cues.

To offset the perspiration of the hands and to afford a better grip the butts of the more expensive cues are cord wound or have ornamental corrugations.

The cues given for prizes at tournaments are handsome affairs, inlaid with different colored woods, with a name plate of pearl, and cost from $15 to $20. Some cues have been given for prizes at the leading clubs that have had gold name plates and have cost as much as $60.—New York Times.

Politeness of Mexican Children.

In Mexico a group of lads from seven to twelve will meet, and each boy will decorously lift his hat, and salutations of extreme courtesy will be exchanged, and then come the boyish chatter, the run and the laughter, the same as anywhere. Boys there treat their elders with respect. An old man or woman is not the butt of the youth of Mexico. Rather for the old people are reserved the shadiest seats under the trees in the park. A Mexican boy or girl on entering a room walks around among the company, shaking hands with all, and on leaving the room does the same. Urbanity is taught in the public schools as arithmetic is at home. There is no one jostled on the street. The best seat in the horse car is promptly given up to ladies, who never fail gracefully to acknowledge the favor. I have never seen a Mexican gentleman fail to give his seat to a woman, whether she was richly or poorly dressed.—Rural Home.

Crabs That Eat Cocoanuts.

Crabs which live upon cocoanuts which they pick for themselves are found in the Coral islands. Nature has provided this crustacean with claws and nippers of enormous strength, and it is supposed that the crab climbs the cocoa palms and detaches the nuts. It reaches the meat of the fruit by picking and rapping with its claws at the end of the nut where the three small holes are to be found till a slight breach is made. Then the nippers are brought into use for the rough fibers which surround the shell. These he shreds with his nippers and conveys to his burrows, where they form a comfortable bed for the crab while he is changing his coat. Some of these crabs attain a length of over two feet and live in holes which they have made in the earth at the roots of tropical trees.

Bait In the Adirondacks.

Darwin in his book upon earthworms, the "angleworms" of boyhood, gave these humble diggers the credit for making the earth fertile by softening the soil. They are found in all parts of the world.

Fishermen in the Adirondacks know that this is not the only region in which is fertile enough when there is room between the trees and rocks, there are no earthworms. The guides there, however, take pains to "plant" worms in convenient open patches of soil near good fishing country. The worms thrive, so there are always plenty to catch bait fish with. But they are not given to wander and the first hornets consequently do not know how to get bait upon their own book and books.

SENT BACK FOR THE PURSE.

Salesman Used an Empty Wallet to Study Humanity.

Picking up a wornout, empty pocketbook, a salesman in one of the large dry goods stores the other day thought he would have a little fun with it. He therefore placed it on the counter, half concealed by the goods lying on it. Presently a shopper entered. Her eyes lighted on the wallet as by instinct, and while pricing half a score of articles she endeavored to cover it—quite artlessly, of course—now with her handkerchief, then with her satchel and again with her umbrella. The salesman, without appearing to notice her actions, each time removed the pocketbook out of danger and into light. Finally she adopted new tactics and picked it up, with the remark:

"Somebody's left a pocketbook."

"Yes?" replied the clerk interrogatively. "Thank you." And he took the leather and disappeared with it for a moment. Upon his return the woman asked, with a slight show of interest:

"Was there much in it?"

"Only $3," replied the salesman carelessly, with the ease of one who has been used to lying all his life.

"And who will get it if it isn't called for?" asked the shopper.

"The firm," is the epigrammatical response.

The woman went out. In ten or fifteen minutes a boy came in and asked:

"Was a pocketbook with $3 found here this morning?"

"Yes," replied the salesman, "but it has been called for."

"Oh," said the boy and retired.

And the salesman smiled audibly.—Chicago Tribune.

THE SUGAR CANE.

We Have Borrowed It From India, Its Native Home.

The sugar cane and its uses have been known in India, its native home, from time immemorial. It is perhaps the earliest source from which sugar was produced, and all other modes of manufacture have been borrowed from or based on it. The early classical writers knew sugar vaguely as "honey of canes." To the Greco-Roman world the sugar cane was the reed which the swarthy Indians delighted to chew and from which they extracted a mysterious sweetmeat.

It was the Arabs—those great carriers between the east and west—who introduced the cane in the middle ages into Egypt, Sicily and the south of Spain, where it flourished abundantly until West Indian slavery drove it out of the field for a time and sent the trade in sugar to Jamaica and Cuba.

Early in the sixteenth century the cane was taken from Sicily to Madeira and the Canaries. Thence it found its way to Brazil and Mexico, to Jamaica and Haiti. Cane sugar was well known in Italy about the second century and has been common in England since the Tudor period. The strenuous days of great Elizabeth had sugar for their sack, and ginger was hot i' the mouth, too, as we all well remember.—Cornhill Magazine.

Some Chinese Baths.

A traveler in Mongolia writes: "There are some hot springs by the road about twenty miles north of Chingpeng. The place is named Tangshan. The arrangements for those anxious to benefit by their healing properties are very primitive. A row of twenty or thirty wooden boxes the size of an ordinary packing case are ranged beside the road. In these sit bathers of every age and both sexes, with their heads protruding. Attendants with buckets continuously refill the boxes from the springs. For less luxurious bathers there is accommodation in a pool which has been dug out close by. In this they squat, scooping up the water and pouring it over their heads with brass basins. It is curious to reflect that establishments like Homburg and Aix-les-Bains have had their origin in such beginnings."

Beetle Soldiers and Sailors.

There are beetles in England, of the family known to scientists as telephoridae, that are popularly called soldiers and sailors; the red species being called by the former name and the blue species by the latter. These beetles are among the most quarrelsome of insects and fight to the death on the least provocation. It has long been the custom among English boys to catch and set them fighting with each other. They are as ready for battle as gamecocks, and the victor will both kill and eat his antagonist.—St. Nicholas.

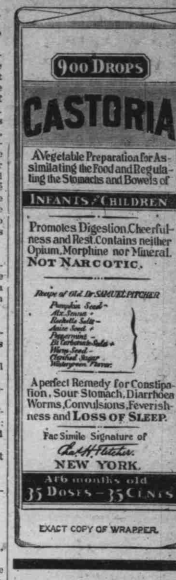

Looking on the Bright Side.

The lesson which I have learned in life, which is impressed on me more and more deeply as I grow old, is the lesson of good will and good hope. I believe that today is better than yesterday and that tomorrow will be better than today. I believe that in spite of so many errors and wrongs and even crimes my countrymen of all classes desire what is good and not what is evil.—Senator Hoar's Autobiography.

Cut It.

"Fact is, I like one man. I married because I let the one man as much as a year older than I. To put it tersely, I married for sympathy."

"Well," said the other man, "you have mine."

A Marriage in China.

There is no fuss about a marriage in China. The bridal party enters a temple, and there a quantity of fireworks are let off, including a large number of crackers. When sufficient noise has been made to waken the "great joss" from his sleep the priest gabbles through the service, the bride and bridegroom take two little glasses of wine, and the thing is done. They are as legally man and wife as if a day had been given over to the ceremony.
